

Jan Gillies Music Endorsements:

“Her play good. Sing too, also good. You listen her or Bigfoot break you leg.” – Bigfoot (William Perritt)

“Jan Gillies music is sweetly sung and lightly picked, drawing the listener in close with unforgiving tales of humanity and nature. Her songs can be lighthearted, haunting, socially aware, but always truthful, in the true tradition of folk singer-songwriters” & “gently bittersweet folk about mankind and nature” – Jeremy Rodgers

“Ms. Gillies music is filled with ennui and aplomb with reflections of mandible conjecture and flatulence...” – Bill Foster

“I just want to say how glad I am that I bought your Singing Lizards cd. Usually, I might like a few songs on a cd, but I have to say that there is not one song on that that I didn't learn something from and/or was charmed by. I'd say keep up the great work but it's obvious with all your CDs, and the stellar quality of this one, that you've been doing just that!”

- Jackson Gillman, “The Standup Chameleon”, Children’s Music Network

“Jan Gillies entertains and mesmerizes audiences with her wealth of songs, stories, wit, and wisdom. Songs ranging from award winning "Did Dinos Ever Sing?" and "Mike the Headless Chicken" to touching ballads like "Annie's Violin" (about a musician with Alzheimers) and "Joshua" dedicated to singer/songwriter Marine vet Josh Hisle.” - Dennis McDonough
